1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Pallini, Jr. et al. Pallini, Jr. et al discloses the basic claimed structure including a keel centralizer (Figure 5) with a flat body, a flange 12, an opening 34, a bore 33, and a bearing ring 32.

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 3 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Pallini, Jr. et al in view of Cannon. Pallini, Jr. et al do not disclose the ring being of non-metallic composite. Cannon teaches a non-metallic composite. It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to form the ring of Pallini, Jr. et al to be of a non-metallic composite as taught by Cannon for reduced wear and increase safety by reducing sparking. Additionally, it would have been an obvious choice of engineering design to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made would have been to form the composite of the particular elasticity for improved durability.

5. Claims 5-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Pallini, Jr. et al in view of Knight et al. Pallini, Jr. et al do not disclose a wear and corrosion resistant ceramic particle coating. Knight et al teach a wear and corrosion resistant ceramic particle coating. It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to form the device of Pallini, Jr. et al with a wear and corrosion resistant ceramic coating for increased durability.

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Davies et al show a riser. Munk et al show a riser. Chou et al show a centralizer.
